Question:

How many applications in total have been received/how many invitations in total have been made by the Government since the launch of the Pilot Scheme for Arbitration on Land Premium (the Pilot Scheme)? Among them, how many cases have been concluded through mediation? When will the Government review the effectiveness of the Pilot Scheme?

Asked by: Hon CHAN Tanya (Member Question No. 406)

Reply:

The Pilot Scheme for Arbitration on Land Premium (the Pilot Scheme) was launched in October 2014 for a trial period of two years. Up to the end of February 2017, the Lands Department (Lands D) had extended a total of 19 invitations to lot owners to settle premium discussions through arbitration under the Pilot Scheme in respect of their lease modification/land exchange applications. Among the 19 invitations, one case with a net increase of about 30 flats had proceeded to arbitration and was concluded in December 2015.

Separately, Lands D declined one application for arbitration which did not meet the policy objective of increasing land supply. Subsequently that case was settled through premium negotiation.

As a relatively new initiative, time is needed for the Pilot Scheme to gather momentum. Given the limited number of cases handled, the Government has decided to extend the Pilot Scheme for two years in order to accumulate more experience. We will conduct a general review of the Pilot Scheme after more experience has been gained.
