Reply:
The annual Controlling Officer’s Report (COR) of the Lands Department (LandsD) provides a comprehensive account of its output areas with past actual and future estimated key performance indicators (KPIs). New KPIs are added to enrich the content of COR from time to time. In addition to the item on temporary government land allocations (TGLAs) which are government land allocated to various government bureaux/departments on a temporary basis to facilitate the implementation of government projects and/or provision of government services, LandsD has introduced a new item in the 2020-21 COR on permanent government land allocations (PGLAs) which are government land allocated to user government bureaux/departments on a long term basis for government facilities and/or services. Similar to the KPIs of TGLAs, the number of cases and their total land area have been selected as the KPIs of PGLAs.
